BROOKLET BRIEFS

MRS. F. W. HUGHES, Reporter.

Miss Ouida Wyatt is visiting Miss Catherine Joiner, at Screven, Ga. Miss Monica Blackburn, of Atlanta, visited Mrs. S. K. Kennedy last week.

Miss Ruth Chapel, of Springfield, was the guest of Mrs. Weyman Mann last week.

Mrs. Dock White and Miss Sallie Blanche McElveen visited in Savannah Monday.

Rev. F. J. Jordan has returned from a week's stay at Indian Springs camp meeting.

Dr. Winburn Shearouse, of Tallahassee, Fla., visited Mrs. J. N. Shearouse last week.

Mrs. W. D. Parrish has returned from a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. Hiers, in Ocala, Fla.

Miss Annie Lois Harrison has returned from a ten-day's visit with relatives in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. Walter Hatcher and children, of Beaufort, S. C., are spending a few days with Mrs. Lester Blank.

Mrs. C. B. Fontaine left this week for Lynn, Mass., to attend the wedding of her son, Bernard, of that place.

Mrs. Pearl Harvey and Mrs. Georgia McGraw, of Chippley, Fla., are spending a few days with Mrs. W. W. Mann.

B. L. Woodcock, of Charlotte, N. C., spent a few days last week with his brother, J. S. Woodcock, and Mrs. Woodcock.

Mrs. D. E. Thompson, Miss Mary Thompson and Eugene Thompson, of Pinehurst, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lee Sr. last week.

This (Thursday) morning Miss Juanita Wyatt entertained with three tables of luncheon in honor of Miss Margaret Hudson, of Ellijay, who is the guest of Miss Jane Watkins this week. Mrs. J. H. Wyatt assisted in serving refreshments.

The girls at Brooklet are beginning to buzz again. Lovin Smith, on the late D. L. Alderman farm for the fifth consecutive year, brought the first bale of cotton to town. The cotton sold for ten cents a pound to J. H. Wyatt.

Mrs. J. H. Hinton was hostess to the Lucky 13 Club and a few other guests Wednesday morning. In the bridge contest high score was made by Mrs. Dock White; in hearts contest high score prize was awarded to Mrs. John A. Robertson. Mrs. Dock White also received a lovely piece of pottery for guest of honor. Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mrs. J. H. Griffith, Mrs. E. C. Watkins and Mrs. T. R. Bryan Jr. assisted in serving.

Miss Dorothy Strayer, of Ohio, is visiting Miss Henrietta Hall. Miss Strayer and Miss Hall began a correspondence when they were fifth grade students in order to learn more of each other's section of the country. They had never met. They were recommended to each other through county school superintendents. They have kept up their correspondence for nine years. Last week Miss Strayer came to visit her "correspondent" friend. Wednesday evening Miss Hall entertained in honor of Miss Strayer with a wienner roast and straw ride. About twenty-five enjoyed the occasion.

FOR RECENT BRIDE

Mrs. Dock White, a recent bride, was the honoree of a lovely luncheon given by Mrs. F. W. Hughes at her home. High score and floating prizes were awarded to Mrs. J. H. Griffith. Mrs. D. L. Alderman and Mrs. R. H. Warnock assisted in serving. Others present were Mrs. E. C. Watkins, Mrs. J. H. Hinton, Mrs. J. H. Wyatt, Mrs. Floyd Atkins, Mrs. T. R. Bryan Jr., Miss Frankie Lu Warnock, Miss Martha Robertson, Miss Frances Hughes and Mrs. W. D. Lee.

FOR BRIDAL PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Parrish, of Port, entertained the bridal party of the Shearouse-Folsom wedding and a few other invited guests with a barbecue lawn supper at their home Friday night. About fifty enjoyed the evening on the lawn.

Mrs. J. H. Hinton entertained the bride party, the out-of-town guests and a few other invited guests with a lovely luncheon Saturday. Mrs. T. R. Bryan Jr., Mrs. Walter Johnson and Mrs. D. L. Alderman assisted in serving.

Mrs. R. H. Kingery, of Statesboro, entertained with a wienner roast Thursday evening in honor of Miss Florence Shearouse. Mrs. Paul Robertson assisted in serving. During the evening Mrs. George Bean, Mrs. Waldo Floyd, Mrs. Edwin Groover and Mrs. Roger Holland rendered a musical program.

TURNER-WHITE

Of cordial interest to their many friends was the marriage of Miss Amelia Turner and Dock White, which took place Monday afternoon, August 12, at the Baptist parsonage in Greenwood, S. C., with Rev. W. H. Beirs, pastor of the Siloam Baptist church, officiating.

The bride is the attractive daughter of Mrs. R. J. Turner, of Ninety-Six, S. C. After her high school graduation she received her A.B. degree from the University of Georgia. She taught French and math in the Brooklet High School for the past three years. For the past year she has taught in the schools of South Carolina.

Mr. White is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. White. He finished his high school education at the Brooklet High School. Later he attended Georgia Teachers College, after which he finished a course at Daughon's Business College in Savannah. For the past four years he has been associated with Lannie F. Simmons, an automobile dealer in Statesboro.

The young couple will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. G. D. White for the present.

RUSHING-COTTE

Of interest was the marriage of Miss Clemens Sue Rushing, daughter of J. N. Rushing and the late Janie DeLoach Rushing, and Henry Beaman Cottle, son of Mrs. Iris Isaacman, of Charlotte, N. C. The wedding took place Saturday afternoon, August 17, at 4:30 o'clock at the home of the bride, Elder R. H. Kennedy, of Collins, performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives and close friends.

The bride entered the living room with her father, by whom she was given marriage. She was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Z. D. Miller Jr., of Waynesboro. She wore a tailored navy fall dress of triple sheer material trimmed in white. Her navy hat and shoes completed her costume of blue with white accessories. She wore a corsage of orchids.

Miss Gladys Harvey, of Savannah, was maid of honor. She wore a powdered blue dress with a corsage of roses.

Mrs. W. D. Lee played the wedding music and Miss Frances Hughes sang "I Love You Truly" and "O, Promise Me."

The rushing home was decorated with white gladioli and ferns. A graduating bank of palms and ferns made an improvised altar.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Rushing entertained with an informal reception in honor of their daughter. Those serving were Miss Martha Sue McElveen, Miss Elvyn Beasley, Miss Pearl Atkins and Miss Martha Jay Powell.

Mrs. Cottle finished high school here and later took a business course in Savannah, where she has held a position ever since.

niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore blue marquisette. They both wore rose buds in their hair. Miss Mary Crowley and Miss Martha Robertson lighted the candles and wore pink and blue marquisette dresses.

Mrs. Shearouse, mother of the bride, was groomed in black chiffon with edged trimming of white lace. Her corsage was white gardenias. Mrs. Folsom, mother of the groom, wore a soldier blue chiffon and a corsage of red rose buds.

The ushers were John Shearouse, Dr. Winburn Shearouse, B. O. Bryan and Emory Watkins.

The church was decorated in white gladioli and massive palms interspersed with tall candelabras with white candles.

The bride is an honor graduate of the Brooklet High School. She attended college at G. S. C. W., where she received her B.S. degree in home economics. Later she received a B. S. degree in dietetics at Vanderbilt.

For the past three years she has been dietitian at Emory University hospital. She had recently been appointed head of the dietary department at the new doctors' hospital in Washington, D. C.

The groom finished high school at Tallahassee, and later attended Emory University and Georgia Tech. He is now engineer for the entire plant at Emory University Hospital.

Immediately after the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Watkins entertained two hundred guests with a reception. Mrs. Watkins was dressed in a lovely dress of pink flowered chiffon with a corsage of pink gladioli. She received the guests at the door and introduced them to the receiving line, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Folsom, the bride and groom; William Honeycutt and Miss Margaret Shearouse, the best man and maid of honor; Mrs. J. N. Shearouse; Mrs. Inez Folsom, Miss Frances Hughes, Mrs. Glenn Harper, John Shearouse, B. O. Bryan, Emory Watkins, Dr. Winburn Shearouse.

Mrs. J. H. Hinton showed the guests to the dining room in charge of Mrs. F. W. Hughes. Those serving were Mrs. Walter Johnson, Mrs. T. R. Bryan Jr., Mrs. R. H. Kingery, Miss Marjorie Murre, Miss Evelyn Treadwell, and Miss Mildred Cross.

Mrs. J. W. Robertson Sr., Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mrs. J. M. Williams, Mrs. Felix Parrish and Mrs. W. C. Crowley had charge of the refreshments.

Mrs. J. E. Parrish directed the guests to the gift room in charge of Mrs. William Shearouse, of Savannah. Mrs. Fred Shearouse was in charge of the wedding guest register.

On the lawn Mrs. C. S. Crowley had charge of the punch. She was assisted by Miss Dorothy Crowley, Mrs. J. W. Robertson Jr., Miss Martha Robertson and Miss Emily Crowley. Those serving punch were Miss Doris Parrish, Miss Emily Crowley, Miss Juanita Wyatt, Miss Elise Williams, Miss Shirley Shearouse, Miss Joyce Parrish and Miss Jane Watkins.

COLUMNETTE

By C. D. SHELLEY

Many a big gas at home is just a slow leak in public.

They would change it to: Judge not for thou art not capable of judging.

Wilkie says he found democracy in the Republican party. Must have been a mirage.

All men are free and equal at every election, if they have paid their poll tax.

Fable: Once a politician after being elected continued to believe in Jefferson's creed of equality.

When they promise not to deal in personalities they are preparing you for a little subtle mud-slinging.

Men who have held government jobs are lucky. When they are fired, the magazines hire them to write rotten stuff about their ex-chief.

How men change! Wilkie, who didn't want the people to have REA, because he headed a light monopoly, now thinks that the government should control monopolies.

They laughed at Roosevelt's brain trust because they couldn't understand how men educated in efficiency could take the place of politicians with bay windows.

The people are being asked to believe that all the high-powered publicity for Wilkie months before his nomination was just the usual thing for a prominent business man.

JIMMY JOTTINGS

An all-day picnic and swimming party was enjoyed Friday by the members of the Langston Sunday school and Epworth League, at Lakeside Park. The group included Mary Lee Brannen, Ruby Olliff, Betty Bird Foy, Carolyn Brannen, Margaret Prosser, Hilda Whaley, Mildred Groover, Katherine Whaley, Eunice and Grace Tanner, Ruthie Lee Groover, Eleanor Whaley, Betty Joiner, Athlean Hill, Ophelia Prosser, Emma Jean Bohler, Beverly Olliff, Jimmie Groover, A. J. Kennedy, J. W. Brannen, E. A. Kennedy, Robert Hill, Emory and Darwin Bohler, Frank Whaley, Mark Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. John Roach, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Roach and children, Mrs. Gus Joiner, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bohler, and Mrs. George Whaley.

Mrs. Arthur Riggs is now at home and able to receive visitors.

one or more additional cash crops and produce them on a co-operative basis.

3. Needed laws: Efforts will be made to obtain a state marketing and grading act; a state seed law, and a state testing laboratory.

4. Soil fertility: Because of low acre yields and high production costs, emphasis will be placed on soil conservation on every farm.

5. Long-time leases: Because one-third of Georgia's farm families move every year, and because the condition does not permit progress toward soil improvement and increased livestock production, encouragement will be given to long-time leases on a basis beneficial both to landlord and tenant.

6. Farm forestry: Forest protection from fire and the planting to trees of land not suitable for other purposes will be encouraged.

7. Pasture demonstrations: In order to stimulate the livestock industry, including the growing of feed crops, provisions will be sought for pasture and year-round grazing demonstrations in every community.

8. Wise land use: Since the size of the average Georgia farm is less than the national average, proper land use will be imperative.

9. Rating efficiency: As a means of increasing efficiency and progress, a system of grading advancement will be instituted, with public honors for those making progress from year to year.

10. Farmers' organizations: To accomplish objectives and for other matters of importance to the welfare of farm people, farmers will be encouraged to form their own organizations.

Pleasing Visitors

At Rotary Monday

Among the visitors Monday at the Rotary luncheon were two very pleasing young men from Annapolis now home on furlough, A. J. Rucker, a Statesboro boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rucker, and John Daniel, of Claxton, brother of Dr. Bird Daniel. Together with J. W. Rucker these two young cadets were guests of Dr. Daniel at the dinner.

Called upon impromptu, both the young men made brief but interesting talks about the work in which they are engaged—that of preparing to assist in the defense of their nation. Young Rucker had previously been a guest of the club, which fact he referred to in his talk. It was young Daniel's first visit, but he acquainted himself creditably when called upon.

Woodward here, and another sister, Mrs. Guy Woodward, in Savannah. They left Friday to visit relatives in Jefferson and Glascock counties, and another sister, Mrs. R. L. Whitehead, at Rome, Ga. From there they will trek back to California by way of Memphis, Tenn., and through Arkansas and Nevada. It has been ten years since their last visit to Georgia.

Register Farmers Plan Annual Trip

The Register Chapter of the Future Farmers of America held a meeting in the school auditorium Friday night, August 9. Plans for the annual trip were discussed and completed. The chapter will go to the State FFA Camp at Lake Jackson, August 28-31. The trip will be made on a school bus and will cost each boy $15.00. O. E. Gay, teacher of vocational agriculture, will accompany the boys on this trip.

The motion picture, "The Green Hand" will be shown in the Register school auditorium Friday night, Aug. 23, at 8:15 o'clock. Admission is free to everyone, and the public is cordially invited.

There will also be a comedy with the program.

LORENZO ANDERSON, FFA Reporter.

green hand is Alpha Fowler Jr., of Douglasville, former FFA chapter president and ex-president of the Georgia Association of Future Farmers of America.

The teacher of vocational agriculture who takes a prominent role in shaping the career of the green hand is M. D. Mobley, director of vocational agriculture in Georgia.

According to reports of the picture it is full of stirring action from beginning to end. The ideals of the Future Farmers of America are brought out, also instances of success in farming by seizing opportunities for making money.

The public is invited to attend, enjoy the picture and learn something of what the Future Farmers of America stand for and what they are doing. There are no admission charges. The picture is sponsored by the Agricultural Foundation of Sears, Roebuck and Company, which provided the funds for its production. It was produced by the Vernard Organization, Peoria, Ill.

that later at least one of these banners was permitted to be suitably displayed in the court house yard, and that thereby every reasonable purpose was satisfactorily served.)

Analyzing the Talmadge crowd as dispassionately as possible, there were a good many persons recognizable from Savannah, from Effingham county, Bryan, Liberty, Long, Tattnall, Evans, Candler, Jenkins and Screven. Possibly twenty-five per cent of the entire crowd came from these neighboring counties.

Speaking, scheduled to begin at 3:30, got away on schedule, with Elder W. H. Crouse, long-time supporter of Talmadge, doing the honors of introduction. Having laid a rather pleasant foundation for his chief, Elder Crouse made it easy for Talmadge to get away in high gear, which he did. It would be indiscreet to attempt to quote from his address. If you have heard him in person or over radio, you are probably familiar with everything he said; if you haven't heard him, then there is evidence that you don't care a hoot about what he said. Let it be admitted that he had lost none of his vigor and cunning; he clinched everything he said, and was roundly applauded at every point.

As he proceeded, hangers-on circulated through the edge of the crowd distributing literature and selling red suspenders. Inquiry at the close of the occasion brought the information that the supply of suspenders was completely exhausted. Speaking less than an hour, he was given a personal ovation as he descended from the platform.

As to the other candidates mentioned in a preceding paragraph, Columbus Robert came Friday morning at 11 o'clock. His presence was the only drawing card, and the small crowd was indication either that few persons knew of his coming, or that few cared. He spoke from a truck platform on the court house yard. The crowd assembled around the shade of the large oak, and he was given a respectful hearing. He was introduced by J. L. Renfro. At the conclusion of Mr. Roberts' speech, he introduced Mrs. Roberts, who spoke on the occasion with a captivating talk. Following this occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Atkins and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brannen at luncheon at the Tea Pot Grille.

This story is a little late getting to you, but last week we told you of the Beans being on the river during the hurricane, and wondered if anyone here had more trouble getting home than they did. Since then we have heard of Kim Johnston getting to Charleston right at the peak of the hurricane and being told by the bus driver he would have to stop over, as the bus wouldn't go any further down the highway till after the storm. Kim in his thirty years of living had taken few long trips alone, and certainly had never had to weather a storm without his parents; so, rather than stay there with all the lights out, he went to the ticket agent and told him to give him a ticket, when the agent asked him where to, he calmly replied, "Just anywhere away from the hurricane."

The next morning found Kim sitting in Winston-Salem waiting for a bus back home, and although he was delayed two days getting home, he was not without his parents; so, rather than stay there with all the lights out, he went to the ticket agent and told him to give him a ticket, when the agent asked him where to, he calmly replied, "Just anywhere away from the hurricane."

MAKE NEW DRIVE FOR SCHOOL BAND

Funds are Solicited For Additional Equipment Which is Badly Needed

Today is High School day in Statesboro. It is being made the occasion for a campaign for funds badly needed to purchase additional equipment for Statesboro's young people who serve in the organizations, the senior and junior bands of the High School.

Ladies representing the Band Mothers Club have planned to conduct this campaign in a vigorous and systematic manner. They will call upon the business men of Statesboro and upon the generally inclined of every walk of life, for the funds needed for the band.

As a part of the campaign, the members of the band will present a concert on the court house square this afternoon between the hours of 3 and 4 o'clock. The public is invited to attend and enjoy this concert.

Some of the past history of the band is a statement of its ambitions for the future may be of interest, therefore some of these facts are submitted herewith.

The band was organized in 1937. Last year there were sixty-six members in the two organizations. These young people have at private expense provided themselves with sixty instruments. Since their organization the band has made one trip each year (three trips) to the state band conference in Milledgeville.

At the first conference they received a rating of 4; the second year, 3; and the third year, 3. The third year the band entered two soloists in the state contest, J. Harold Waters, drummer, who was given a rating of 2 plus, and Neil Bunn, trumpet, who received a rating of 1, which was superior. During its existence the band has participated in many important engagements, having been invited to play for the annual Tomato Festival at Glennville in June; for Georgia Teachers College homecoming day; for the Statesboro Production Credit Association upon the occasion of its annual meeting; played three times for stock shows in Statesboro, and from time to time entertained various groups of visitors.

Fourth week (3 days).....72,932

Total.....4,611,583

Under existing regulations and average seasons, the market is considered exceedingly satisfactory.

CHEVROLET CO. HAVE NEW HOME

Will Move to Building Long Occupied by Averitt Bros. On Court House Square

An important transaction of the week was that consummated yesterday whereby Franklin Chevrolet Company and E. L. Pindexter first lieutenant, have moved to the new building on the east side of the court house square now occupied by Averitt Bros. Auto Company.

The lease included the show room, work shop and used car lot, and also Pontiac parts stock and tools for service. The new building is a two-story building, and will continue in business until they have disposed of their present new and used car stock.

This change is made necessary due to the fact that J. B. Averitt, an officer in the National Guard, who probably be called to active duty within the very near future an indefinite period of service.

The Averitt firm has been handling automobiles since 1908, and has been located in a part of the building now being leased since 1911. This property was previously owned by the Bank of Statesboro, which in 1928 when it was purchased by Averitt Bros.

D. Percy Averitt, the first of the brothers to enter the automobile trade, had his first automobile (two cylinder Ford) in Bulloch county; also he was the first gasoline dealer in the county, beginning at 1928 when he was purchased by Averitt Bros.
